"Guys, quick before Autumn comes!"
Paige pulls her group of friends into a huddle.

"I'm recruiting you for a top-secret mission..." She says with a dramatic pause as the group leans in.

In a panic, the group cuts her off, listing any and every possible event happening next weekend EXCEPT for Autumn's birthday.

"Cinco de Mayo right?"

"And the Soccer Championships!"

"Can't forget National Taco Day!"

"Right, tacos." Autumn says with a half-grin, realizing the group has forgotten about her big day.

Brooklyn notices the tension between Autumn and the rest of the group. "Melina, I have a plan." Brooklyn says with a grin.

“...Autumn’s birthday is this Saturday, and we are going to throw her the best, biggest, and most extravagant surprise party ever!”

The group’s excitement grows. But before Paige can finish telling them her amazing plan, she notices Autumn approaching the lunch table.

“Whatever you guys do, DO NOT tell Autumn!”
She quickly warns.

“Don’t tell Autumn what?” Autumn repeats, joining the conversation. They pause, frantically looking at each other, before Darcy changes the subject. “So... how was everyone’s weekend?”

Quinten takes the hint and starts, “Mine was good!
It was my sister’s birthday and she got a new puppy named Sprinkles.”

Autumn thinks her friends are acting strange, but figures she should chime in. “My weekend was kinda boring but I’m really excited for next weekend, my bir-”
